Yes No

4.17 Describe the terms of the moratorium and any special dispensation received by LIHEAP clients during or after the moratorium period.

When extreme temperatures are experienced within the State, utility companies providing services will not disconnect services until the extreme temperatures have ended. For example, temperatures at freezing and below - heating companies will not disconnect the services for non-payment until the temperatures have returned to above freezing levels for at least 24hours. For cooling season, utility companies within the state will not disconnect service while temperatures are in excess of 100 degrees until such time as the temperatures have returned to below 100 degees for at least 24 hours . This is in effect by towns or regions within the service area of that utilitybased on National weather Service predictions.
