Section 4: CRISIS ASSISTANCE

Eligibility - 2604(c), 2605(c)(1)(A)

4.1 Designate the income eligibility threshold used for the crisis component

Add	Household size	Eligibility Guideline	Eligibility Threshold
1	All Household Sizes	State Median Income	60.00%

4.2 Provide your LIHEAP program's definition for determining a crisis.

To determine a crisis in our program we first evaluate the energy need of the people or persons being affected. The winters in our area can be very harsh and extensive. This can mean high energy use that can be very costly for our very low-income households that makes up a majority of our service area. If a household is unable to pay the minimum amount for their energy source and will indeed be without heat, this would be considered a crisis. Long winters can also mean household see high energy cost for most of the year. Even though the temperature can raise above freezing going into spring, it is still cold enough to affect any vulnerable persons, which would be considered a crisis if unable to pay. Also we experience a considerable amount of power outages due to the weather. Most people are able to stay with family (that has power) or the local tribal hotel (that has backup generators). This would be considered a crisis as the temperatures usually drop below freezing but is not exactly life-threatening since most can attain alternate temporary housing. With below freezing temperatures this can be very damaging to a home, weather it is the pipes, windows, electrical and this is when we would utilize crisis funding.

4.3 What constitutes a life-threatening crisis?

A life-threatening crisis is to be defined as a household that is at risk of being without a heat source or energy needed for any medical reasons or to avoid lethal weather exposure. A few examples are a person that relies on power generated medical device, children and the elderly that are more susceptible to infection/sickness. A persons that lives in remote area that can be difficult to either reach or unable to leave and may not have alternate heating sources during power outage because below freezing temperatures can be life-threatening to anyone.

Crisis Requirement, 2604(c)

4.4 Within how many hours do you provide an intervention that will resolve the energy crisis for eligible households? 48Hours

4.5 Within how many hours do you provide an intervention that will resolve the energy crisis for eligible households in life-threatening situations? 18Hours

Crisis Eligibility, 2605(c)(1)(A)

The prospective participant shall submit an explanation of why it cannot provide the certification set out below. The certification or explanation will be considered in connection with the department or agency's determination whether to enter into this transaction. However, failure of the prospective primary participant to furnish a certification or an explanation shall disqualify such person from participation in this transaction.

If it is later determined that the prospective primary participant knowingly rendered an erroneous certification, in addition to other remedies available to the Federal Government, the department or agency may terminate this transaction for cause or default.

3. For grantees other than individuals, Alternate I applies.
4. For grantees who are individuals, Alternate II applies.

Categorical descriptions may be used (e.g., all vehicles of a mass transit authority or State highway department while in operation, State employees in each local unemployment office, performers in concert halls or radio studios).
