Renters living in subsidized housing?	<input checked="" type="radio"/> Yes <input type="radio"/> No
Renters with utilities included in the rent?	<input checked="" type="radio"/> Yes <input type="radio"/> No
Explanations of policies for each "yes" checked above:
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Elderly and disabled with medical conditions, limited income are considered a priority for crisis assistance and those who live in the more rural locations on the reservation. Households with young children are considered a priority for crisis assistance due to limited income and the need to protect young children in a diverse conditions. Households with high energy burdens are a priority due to that reason and if they cannot keep up with payments, these homes will be disconnected because of the high energy bills. Reconnect fees add to the burden. Consumers on limited income with shut-off notices and empty propane tanks are encouraged to apply to avoid being disconnected or running out of propane. Consumers must indicate on their application the percentage of propane left in their tanks or be dangerously close to being empty. 10% or less in inclement weather. Regular assistance must be exhausted, then the consumer may apply for crisis assistance. Many renters receive eviction notices when their bills are not paid and the Company notifies their landlord of this. Requests for assistance are processed immediately and the LIEAP office notifies both landlord and energy vendor of the assistance. Heating/cooling assistance will be provided on an immediate basis to those consumers who require it for medical conditions. Requests for repairs to heating and cooling equipment is considered a priority and the appropriate repair services will be provided. Renters must provide documentation on household members for income and contact information for landlords. Landlords must sign off on if they provide any type of heating, cooling and weatherization assistance to their renter. Renters in subsidized housing may apply for assistance with writing documentation from their landlords on assistance NOT provided for renters. Usually only weatherization is needed. Renters with utilities included in their rent do not apply for assistance except for weatherization supplies. They must provide documentation to that effect.
