Explanations of policies for each "yes" checked above:

The Choctaw Nation, in determining the level of assistance to eligible households, has designed a Point Matrix System to effectively target the neediest households living at or under the program's income guidelines. This system of determining benefit levels assures that households most in need of assistance receive the highest benefits; the highest level of energy assistance is provided to households with the lowest income and the highest energy costs in relation to income, taking into account family size. No household is guaranteed a certain amount of assistance.

Determination of Benefits 2605(b)(5) - Assurance 5, 2605(c)(1)(B)

2.4 Describe how you prioritize the provision of heating assistance to vulnerable populations, e.g., benefit amounts, early application periods, etc.

Previously assisted elderly LIHEAP applicants are automatically mailed an application at the beginning of the new program year.

The Tribe's LIHEA Program recognizes vulnerable households as categorically eligible and prioritizes them for services. The factors employed by the Point Matrix System formula provides flexibility to match energy assistance to energy need, incorporating variables and calculations that assure increased levels of assistance to the neediest.

Prioritized treatment includes early screening of applications, rapid distribution of program benefits, and higher benefit payments, with reference to the Point Matrix System of benefit determination.

2.5 Check the variables you use to determine your benefit levels. (Check all that apply):

Categorical descriptions may be used (e.g., all vehicles of a mass transit authority or State highway department while in operation, State employees in each local unemployment office, performers in concert halls or radio studios).

This definition does not include workers not on the payroll of the grantee (e.g., volunteers, even if used to meet a matching requirement; consultants or independent contractors not on the grantee's payroll; or employees of subrecipients or subcontractors in covered workplaces).
